33 YEARS AND (NEARLY) 400 ISSUES LATER...

On July 16th, I celebrated my 33rd anniversary with Diamond Comic Distributors, Inc. and the reason I'm here, my beloved PREVIEWS catalog.

Over the three decades that I have worked here, I have seen so much happen to the comics industry... so many changes, departures, successes and failures. I saw the rise of the IMAGE partners and their subsequent departure from Marvel Comics. I saw Marvel Comics leave us and attempt to distribute themselves — and fail miserably. But when they needed us, we took them back. It was important that Marvel Comics continued and survived for the benefit of the entire industry.

As you know, Marvel has left us again, this time to another distributor. We'll still be selling Marvel Comics to whoever wants to order them from us. And Marvel? I wish them the best, putting their faith in a flightless seabird and a random dwelling. Brave.

I saw DC kill Robin via telephone vote and kill Superman at the hands of a ridiculous alien juggernaut. I saw Frank Miller reinvigorate Batman once upon a time, and a British wizard with a soft spot for the Silver Age, cast his considerable word magic on some of DC's least appreciated characters, and like an alchemist, turned them to gold. And I watched as they left us abruptly during a period of their own creative restructuring, casting off longtime staffers and editors, for... something different, that many of us old-timers no longer recognize. I wish them the best... for what it's worth.

And over the years I saw Aardvarks, Ticks, Turtles, Bones, Strangers, and a million more characters emerge, not from the largest publishers in the land, but from the drawing boards of talented writers and artists with a dream and the will to bring them to life. Heck, I even helped my friend Scott Braden bring his own creation, Kent Menace, to life in two recent comics books that I not only edited but contributed to... my first pro comic book writing and art!

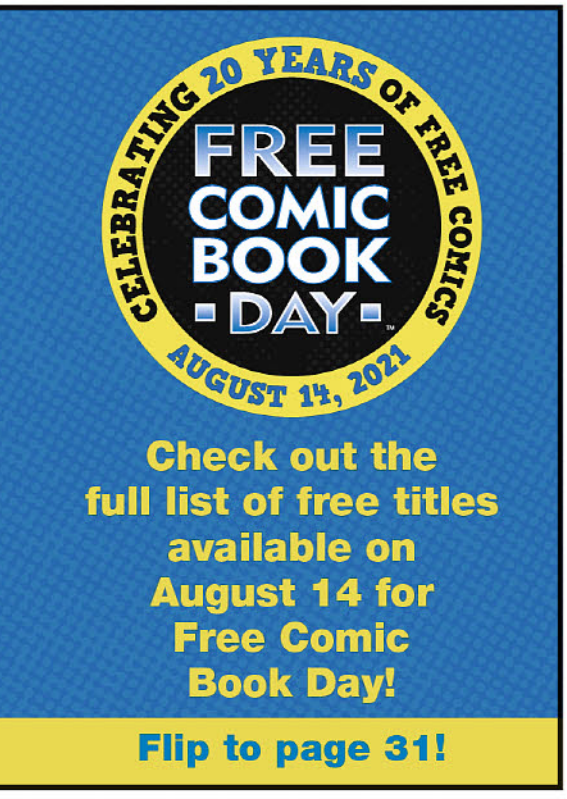

And over the years I have welcomed and bid farewell to dozens of co-workers, many with a visit to Bertucci's Pizza for a tasty send-off. There are not many people on staff today who remember the "good old days" (looking at you Lance Woods and Cindy Anderson!), but the feeling of family I share with everyone here in Diamond Marketing is real... we are all working together for the same cause, and it's great to know that there are so many talented people here to make it all happen, regardless of what life and the comics industry throws at us.

So, it's another year, and just five issues away from the 400th issue of PREVIEWS. I hope that this catalog, the thing we work on each month through thick and thin, is a part of your life and your collector lifestyle. I can't wait to see what awaits us in the years to come. One thing's for sure, it should be interesting!

Your Pal @ PREVIEWS

Overstreet Comic Book Price Guide #51 Out July 28

Kicking off its sixth decade, The Overstreet Comic Book Price Guide #51 is in comic shops on Wednesday, July 28, 2021. In addition to the latest prices, the Bible of serious comic book collectors, dealers and historians will feature market reports on the market boom during COVID-19.

It takes a look at Dick Tracy's 90th anniversary, how disabilities have been portrayed in comics, and inductees for The Overstreet Hall of Fame. The cover features Daredevil and Echo by David Mack; Static and Hardware by Milestone Media co-founder Denys Cowan, inker Bill Sienkiewicz, and colorist Christopher Sotomayor; and The Big, Big Golden Age Daredevil cover by Buzz and colorist Dash Martin.

Comic & Original Art Sales Dominate in June 2021

Auction prices of key comics and original art have seen tremendous growth in the last year, and results reported during June 2021 prove that the trend is not slowing down yet. Some of the biggest comic sales were Detective Comics #27 CGC 5.0 for $1.125 million and Marvel Spotlight #5 CGC 9.8 for $264,000 at Heritage. ComicLink sold an X-Men #1 CGC 8.0 for $147,000 and Amazing Fantasy #15 CGC 7.0 for $191,000, and ComicConnect sold an Action Comics #1 CGC 9.0 Restored for $452,000.

Within original art, Heritage sold Wally Wood's cover for Shock SuspenStories #6 for $840,000, while ComicConnect sold an Amazing Spider-Man #18 page by Steve Ditko for $133,222 and a #39 page by John Romita for $116,000.

Savitar's Obsession with Speed

Savitar is a powerful speedster and Flash supervillain who was introduced by Mark Waid and Oscar Jimenez in Flash Vol. 2 #108 (December 1995). He was a pilot testing a supersonic fighter jet during the Cold War when his plane was struck by lightning and crashed in enemy territory.

While defending himself, he learned that he could move at superspeed. Now obsessed with speed, he took the name Savitar after the Hindu god of motion, and by studying speed, he unlocked many amazing abilities.

Please tell us a bit about yourselves!

The short answer: We're two lifelong best friends who write as a hivemind in comics, film, television, games, and prose! We met as students at USC film school, two kids from poor backgrounds and single mothers who wanted to tell wild stories for a living. Along with our buddy David Server, we used to pile into a car and head to Golden Apple every week to pick up our comics — then we'd go get pizza and argue about them for hours. We started writing movies together right after college, when we discovered that our skill sets really meshed and made us better storytellers than we were alone. One script became a dozen, and then we made our comics debut in 2014 with Hacktivist (Vol. 1 HC / MAY141168) at Boom! Studios. Since then, we've been lucky enough to work with many of our Hollywood heroes and write many of the characters that we used to argue about over the last slice, including Nightwing, Green Arrow, Kang the Conqueror, and more. We're unique in comics because we're not a solo writing act; everything we work on is a conversation, an argument, and a deep dive into what makes us both tick. If something doesn't make both of us lose our minds, it's not ready for the reader. We call ourselves a Hivemind — and after over a decade telling stories together, we think we've earned the moniker!

What are your favorite projects you've contributed to over the past decade?

Our first creator-owned book, Joyride (Vol. 1 TP / JUL161338), will always have an incredibly special place for us — a neon-soaked interstellar adventure that helped us channel something universal: the desire to get the hell off this planet! Beyond that, honestly, we've been incredibly lucky to work on nothing but amazing projects. At DC, working on Batman & Robin: Eternal, Grayson, Green Arrow and an amazing collection of shorts would have been enough, but our solo series Gotham City Garage was our chance to invent a new corner of the DCU, with a collection of artists who've universally gone on to do amazing things. Our books with Vault — both our creator owned Zojaqan (Comp. Series TP / APR181879) and our partnership with Brandon Sanderson on Dark One (Vol. 1 HC / MAR211677) — have given us the freedom to tell deeply personal stories. We're taking that same philosophy over to Marvel now with Kang The Conqueror. But our proudest work recently has been on Star Trek: Year Five (Vol. 1: Odyssey's End TP / SEP190657). An absolute dream come true of a project, ST:Y5 had a particularly amazing process: run like a television writer's room and using a rotating collection of artists. It's the very definition of collaboration, voices from all corners working together to make something great. Like Star Trek should truly be.

What are you currently working on?

Most of what we're working on now is highly classified — but we've got three projects dropping in 2021 that we can spill about. The first is The Harbinger at Valiant (See the Valiant section on Page 406!), featuring a stunning visual reinvention of the character by Robbi Rodriguez and Rico Renzi. We've been reading Harbinger since Shooter and Lapham first started the series — and we're particularly huge fans of the Joshua Dysart run — but The Harbinger is a totally new take on Peter Stanchek, PSIots, and the place of superpowered people in the Valiant Universe. It's been years in the making and we're so psyched for readers new and old to get a taste of the next era for one of Valiant's flagship books!

Next, Kang The Conqueror is dropping from Marvel, which is our first work for the House of Ideas and an absolute dream come true. The pitch started as a very personal story that we never thought would be greenlit in a million years — and now we're telling a story with the absolute genius Carlos Magno that actually spans millions of years! This book is special and needs to be seen to be believed.

Lastly, we have a 30-page story in Batman: Urban Legends #7 that reintroduces a hero who means the world to us: Batman Beyond. We're taking a huge swing in that story — a change that will reverberate well past that single issue. All I can say is that Batman fans need to pick it up. Inside, they may learn a lot more about what we'll be doing in 2022.

What fun titles are you reading?

JACKSON'S PICK: SAVE IT FOR LATER (FEB210965) by Nate Powell— I've been an enormous fan of Nate Powell's ever since his team-up with my friend Cecil Castelucci on Year of the Beast — and his newest effort is a wonderful reflection on how we pass our values to our children and how protest shapes young minds. I was raised inside an activist community and found Powell's experiences deeply moving, even though I'm not yet a parent myself. Highly recommend!!

COLLIN'S PICK: BARBARIC (#1 2nd Printing / APR219822) by Michael Moreci & Nathan Gooden One of the things I absolutely love to read is fantasy - as far as I'm concerned, the more blades, blood and battles you've got, the better. Which is why I've got to absolutely recommend Vault's BARBARIC, written by Mike Moreci with all the passion of a bloodthirsty warlord. When you bring in the art of Nathan Gooden, our close collaborator on all our work at Vault, you end up with a book that cuts (ha!) to the heart of what an amazing fantasy adventure should be all about.

HIVEMIND PICK: IMPERIUM (Vol. 1: Collecting Monsters TP / MAY151624) by Joshua Dysart, Doug Braithwaite, & Raul Allen— We've read everything Valiant's ever published (we're kind of completionists, it's a real problem), but there's nothing out there quite like Imperium. Dysart's magnum opus ending to his run on Harbinger can really be taken as its own story — a fantastic, morally-complex and deeply political story that reckons with the true meaning of villainy. It's also filled with some of the most wonderful characters Valiant has ever produced, including our personal favorite: Sunlight on Snow. If you're looking to get into Valiant ahead of The Harbinger, this is a great one!

USER'S GUIDE

There's a lot of awesome comics and products to look through in PREVIEWS. "A lot" might be a bit of an understatement, as each month's catalog is filled with hundreds and hundreds of pages of upcoming comics and related merchandise! It can be easy to accidentally overlook a new series you've been dying to read or a figure you've been pining to add to your shelf when there's so many things to browse. That's why we've put together this guide to help you learn how to use PREVIEWS like a pro to order the awesome titles and products you want!

Learn How to Use PREVIEWS to Order From Your Comic Shop!

WHAT EXACTLY IS PREVIEWS?

PREVIEWS is part catalog, part magazine (we call it a Mag-a-log!) of monthly listings of all of the upcoming comic titles and related products from your favorite publishers and manufacturers in one convenient place. And don't worry—PREVIEWS is organized by publisher and product type (and color-coded to boot!), to make it easy to find and flip to the section or items you're looking for. Each item listing has the information you need, such as format, size, page count, price, release date, stock or item code, and descriptive text, and nearly every listing is accompanied by artwork or images.

The most important aspect of PREVIEWS to remember is that items solicited in the catalog are anticipated to ship 2-3 months later (or more). For example, if you found a comic you wanted in the May issue of PREVIEWS, you can expect to see it turn up in your local comic shop in July. The catalog can be a great resource for figuring out where your favorite comic series is going, or for discovering new ones that you'll want to add to your library—not to mention all the other awesome products!

HOW DO I ORDER FROM PREVIEWS?

When you've picked out all of the items you want, you can fill out the Short Order Form included in your copy of PREVIEWS and submit it to your local comic shop. You can also ask your friendly neighborhood retailer about obtaining a Customer Order Form, a booklet that contains a complete listing of all the items made available for that month. These forms make pre-ordering your comics and products a breeze and can help your local comic shop decide what to stock in the store for other customers, too! Be sure to also ask your retailer about their pullbox or subscription service. Once you've submitted your order, you can sit back and relax, or try to contain your excitement until your comics and merchandise arrive!

FROM OUT OF THE PAST, THE GUNSLINGER SPAWN DOLES OUT HIS UNHOLY JUSTICE

June's release of Spawn's Universe was an unqualified hit for Todd McFarlane and Image Comics, giving Image Comics its biggest seller in twenty years and laying the groundwork for the launch of three new ongoing series. The second of those series in McFarlane's Spawnverse, Gunslinger Spawn, rides into town this October!

At the height of the Civil War, in a small town on the edge of the dusty frontier, a preacher named Jeremy Winston was framed for the murder of his family and executed. After his death, Winston was reborn as a Hellspawn, and he took his vengeance on the town that had wronged him. Now he has returned. What has summoned him? What is his mission? Can anyone outdraw the Gunslinger Spawn?

Co-written by McFarlane and Ales Kot, with artwork from Brett Booth, Philip Tan, and Kevin Keane, Gunslinger Spawn combines the mythology of the Old West with the supernatural action fans expect from Spawn. Gunslinger Spawn rides into town — and your local comic shop — this October!

ENTER THE HOUSE OF SLAUGHTER IN JAMES TYNION IV'S NEW SERIES FOR BOOM! STUDIOS

Navigating the strange and deadly school, coping with feelings for a boy who will be his rival, every day is a struggle to survive for Aaron. Co-written by Tynion IV and Tate Brombal with art from Dell'Edera and Chris Shehan, House of Slaughter is essential reading for the fans of Something Is Killing the Children!

One of the mob's top enforcers is brought in to flush out Blood and eliminate her, and the streets of Bountiful will run red with blood before it's all over! NEW GAME, LIFE IS STRANGE: TRUE COLORS, COMING SEPTEMBER 10, 2021!

THE HEART-WRENCHING CONCLUSION TO MAX & CHLOE'S EPIC COMICS JOURNEY!

Features fan favorite characters STEPH GINGRICH and VICTORIA CHASE from the original game.

LIFE IS STRANGE FREE COMIC BOOK DAY (ON SALE AUGUST 14) LEADS INTO THIS NEW ARC!

We spoke to writer Emma Vieceli and series artist Claudia Leonardi and asked them what fans can expect from this critically-acclaimed series...

COVER A BY FAN-FAVORITE ARTIST
LISA STERLE

EMMA VIECELI AND CLAUDIA LEONARDI

What will new readers need to know before diving into your Free Comic Book Day issue?

E. V. – Honestly, not a whole lot. If anything, we hope the FCBD issue will inspire readers to come and check out the comic, but you won't need prior knowledge of it.

Who are the characters and what's the storyline of the Life Is Strange FCBD edition?

E. V. – We've actually split the issue into two parts. One offers some insight into Alex - the protagonist of True Colours - in the lead-up to the game. The other half of the FCBD issue will be a fun recap/teaser of sorts for our main comic storyline. I don't want to spoil anything, but it should provide a nod of thanks and a recap for existing readers, and will hopefully help out new readers who want to check out the comic after reading the issue.

What are some of the themes of your book and what do you hope readers get out of it?

E. V. – Self discovery. Belonging. Learning to live with the choices, and mistakes, we make. Facing life's tougher moments and knowing who you can trust to help you do that. These are some of what the main comic plays with. For the FCBD issue, it's a vignette, so I can't say we went in with any great themes in mind as much as a bit of fun and a thank you to our readers, and a welcome to new readers!

What did you enjoy most about writing/drawing this comic?

C. L. – Being able to draw characters from the new games and design new characters is always exciting for me.

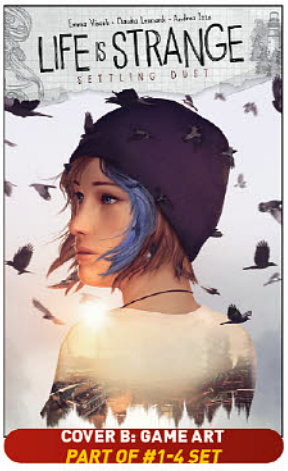

What was one of the most surprising things you learned while working on this book?

C. L. – Well, when we first started working on it I was surprised by the news that a new LiS game was coming out this year! It was exciting to be working with the new characters, and I can't wait to try Alex's powers in the videogame.

What is your favorite part about working in the comics industry?

E. V. – Getting to tell stories in a medium that I love. And when those stories connect with readers, that's when it's really magic.

C. L. – I love working with other people, being part of a team to create a piece of art is great!

"THE FIRE NEXT TIME," Part One

From the universe of Eisner-nominated series KILLADELPHIA comes a terrifying new tie-in horror series by acclaimed Marvel writer RODNEY BARNES and fan-favorite SPAWN artist JASON SHAWN ALEXANDER.

Jimmy Sangster might have left Maryland for the vampire-infested city of "Killadelphia," but there is still untold evil lurking the streets of Baltimore. The demon Corson has surfaced from the underworld to possess a once-wronged man, and his vengeance will come at the cost of humanity's despair! But Jimmy's former lover Nita Hawes—a woman with demons of her own—has begun a quest to root the evil out of her city. Guided by the ghost of her dead brother, she must come to terms with her own past, lest she join her brother in a state worse than death!

The supernatural vibes of Lovecraft Country pair with the universe-building mentality of The Conjuring to create a horror thriller perfect for fans of KILLADELPHIA.

CHAPTER FIVE

BALLOONS

Dialogue balloons are design elements that virtually everyone recognizes as a universal representation of "comic books." When they're done right, the eye glides over balloons with hardly a second thought. When they're wrong, they pull the reader out of the reading experience, and can ruin an otherwise wonderfully drawn page.

This is why people assume lettering is easy—and why it's often treated as an afterthought—because dialogue balloons are just some text in a circle with a tail, right? Anyone can do that. Well, anyone can do it at an amateur level. Letterers end up spending hundreds of hours practicing so the dialogue balloons they've created have an effortless, consistent quality.

All styles of balloons share their roots with a basic white oval with a black stroke and a tail—from heavy, craggy balloons made to look like they're spoken by a monster, to ethereal, wavy telepathy balloons.

Before we get to work, let's make sure we're all on the same page with some descriptive terminology. Take a look at Fig. 5.1, the anatomy of balloons.

CRAFTING DIALOGUE BALLOONS

Much like the Area Type objects I had you create in the last chapter, letterers generally don't craft a new balloon every time they need one. That would be too time consuming. We create some standard styles that we keep as assets off to the sides of our template's artboard, and copy/paste them around the artboard where they are needed.

It's handy to have two profiles for standard balloons: the basic ellipse, and a slightly more squared off ellipse for dialogue that stacks better in a slightly more rectangular shape. Let's start with the basic ellipse.

We're going to start out the same way we created the Area Type objects in Chapter Four. In the Balloons layer

RADIO BALLOON TAILS

Back to the task at hand! Let's fit our new radio balloon to some text before we add a tail. (Fig. 5.77)

Fig. 5.77

Radio balloon tails are made with the Pen tool (P) like standard tails, but take some practice and adjustment to get right. There are a few more points and curves involved. You click points and then drag to make curved lines just like the standard curved tail earlier in the chapter. (Fig. 5.78) Note that after you release Point 2, you need to click on it again before moving on to Point 3 and so on, so that Illustrator doesn't continue the curved angle between Points 1 and 2. Once finished, you just impermanently join it to the balloon with Make Compound Shape in the Pathfinder window menu.

Your first try will probably be a mess, and that's okay. Radio balloon tails are all about having enough experience to judge the odd angles and curves involved in creating them.

Because these are tricky, and there are extra steps involved in making them, I suggest that you make a bunch at different sizes and curvatures and save them off your artboard to be reused. (Fig. 5.79) You can rotate them with the Rotate Tool (R), or even mirror them with the Reflect Tool (O), for any scenario.

THINKING DYNAMICALLY

I've said it and said, it, but how do you do it? How do you make sound effects dynamic? It's about movement, and depth, and persepctive. You have to get good at making sound effects look like they're in motion. I've drawn a panel with an explosion. (Sorry, explosions aren't my specialty . . . but it'll do.) Do you see the "movement"? How about if I use some red arrows? Everything is moving away from the epicenter and towards the outside of the panel.

If you're not thinking dynamically, this is what you might end up with. It's okay. It gets the job done . . . but it's kind of boring—and I think "boring" is just as bad as "bad" when it comes to graphic design. This sound effect isn't working with the art. It looks like a sticker slapped on as an afterthought.

What if we think in terms of movement? Some creative positioning of the letters, a little perspective added, a slight arc . . . that's much better. I also used a clipping mask to trim the sound effect to the panel border, but that's all a matter of choice.

We could place the sound effect on the other side, too. There's room. Again, shearing the sound effect a little bit, letters that get bigger as they "fly towards" us . . . all these things make better sound effects. Note that this time, I used a clipping mask up at the top, but I let the M pop out of the panel. Try lots of different things and see what you like!

For your enjoyment, here's a gallery of inspirational sound effects. All the designs presented here were created with the techniques covered in this chapter. Now you've got the building blocks to create sound effects, from sloshing water to raging infernos!

THE IDEA OF COMMUNICATING REMOTELY VIA ELECTROMAGNETIC WAVES HAD BEEN THEORETICALLY POSSIBLE FOR SOME TIME; BUT SO FAR NO ONE HAD MASTERED IT.
WHEN OUR ASSOCIATE MR. ANDERSON SPEAKS INTO THE "TRANSMITTER," THIS "RECEIVER" WILL PICK UP THE SIGNAL.
IN THE PROCESS, TRANSFORMING THE SIGNAL BACK INTO AUDIBLE SOUND, AND WE'LL BE ABLE TO HEAR WHAT MR. ANDERSON IS SAYING FROM THE NEXT ROOM.

ANIMAL STORIES

CERTIFIED COOL

WRITER/ARTIST Peter & Maria Hoey

SC	FC	176 Pages	10" x 8.5"
$19.99	ISBN: 978-1-60309-502-0

AVAILABLE IN DECEMBER

What separates us from animals? What connects us? Award-winning cartoonists Peter and Maria Hoey probe these mysteries across six surreal and interconnected stories.

After tremendous acclaim for their series Coin-Op Comics, two brilliant creators present their first graphic novel: a menagerie of wild tales. Pushing the boundaries of their dazzling and unique narrative style, Animal Stories weaves together six short stories exploring the mysterious relationships between humans and other animals.

A girl who keeps pigeons starts receiving messages from a new bird in her flock. A ship's crew rescues a dog, only to find far stranger things in the sea around them. A reincarnated cat with criminal intentions, a parrot who leads a revolution, and a squirrel who tempts a woman in a beautiful garden glade.

Drawing inspiration from Aesop's Fables, film noir, and the Old Testament, Peter and Maria Hoey apply their singular and sophisticated visual storytelling to create a new set of modern animal tales for modern times.

"Peter and Maria Hoey are among the very best illustrators in comics."
—Rob Clough, High-Low

WRITER RAY FAWKES PULLS BACK THE CURTAIN ON HIS NEXT BATCH OF CHAOS - PURGATORI!

Ray, now that you already got some time with Purgatori, how are you looking to expand on that with her solo venture?

Purgatori was such fun, and I felt like there was a lot more we could do with her! I had to be careful to keep my pitch from overflowing with ideas. She really is a bundle of fun

Though fans can jump right into this series and first issue fresh, this series will be loosely flowing out of Vampirella vs Purgatori. Without spoiling too much, what are some of the key happenings that will be helpful for fans to know?

I really can't answer that without spoiling things. Let me just say this: some of the way Vampirella vs Purgatori shakes out will have a strong effect on Purgatori - strong enough that Purgatori will still be trying to deal with them at the start of her series. But it's all made really clear in Purgatori #1.

You had an interesting take in that story, incorporating bits of religious elements, which has been applied to both the Vampirella and Purgatori corners, but admittedly more in a very basic demons type of way. Will we be seeing any of that flavor in this new series with Purgi?

Yeah, absolutely. There are reasons Purgatori is what she is, and there are different people who'll have their own theories about her. Some of them will be religious, so that lens will be one way to look at her.

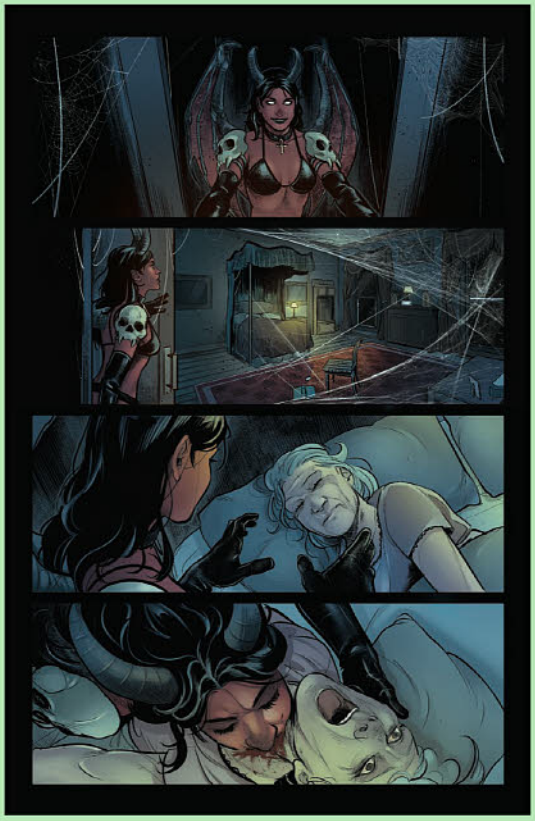

Alvaro Sarraseca is returning on art, which is nice for consistency bridging the two tales, but how has it been working with him and knowing he's back?

Amazing. The first thing I asked when I was offered the book was whether we could have Alvaro return with me, and I was really happy to learn he would. He did such a great job on Vampirella vs Purgatori, and he's doing fantastic work already on this book too. His Purgatori is the coolest and the sexiest - disagree with me at your peril!

WISEGUY FRED VAN LENTE SPILLS THE BEANS ON JENNIFER'S NEW SERIES

Fred, for those who have dove into DIE!Namite Lives already, they know that Jennifer Blood is one of the exciting additions to that massive crossover. What inspired you to spin the character out into her own series?

A Garth Ennis-created lady Punisher: what more inspiration did I need? Seeing her duke it out with the undead in DIE!Namite Lives! made me want to see her back in her natural crime milieu, where she's the apex predator in the food chain.

This story finds Jennifer Blood chasing all kinds of undercover ex-mafia players around a witness protection community. But she'll also have some rivals to contend with. What can you tell us about this new mission of hers and what she's up against?

Bountiful, Utah, is like that town Ray Liotta winds up in at the end of Goodfellas: neatly trimmed lawns populated by the most ruthless gangsters who ever flipped on their own mafias. But some are only semi-retired, continuing their criminal ways under the noses and with the tacit blessing of the Feds.

Then the gruesome murders begin--some of the top dons are whacked in their own homes in spectacularly creative ways. The older wiseguys whisper that Jennifer Blood is back, even though the world believes her to be dead.

Figuring they need a femme fatale to catch a femme fatale, Bountiful's leading mafiosi bring in top assassin Giulietta Romeo to flush her out. Jennifer must deal with being hunted by a femme fatale herself in a gory game of cat-and-mouse that will run the streets of Bountiful red with, well, Blood.

Jennifer Blood is sometimes compared to the Punisher, a character you've also written. How do you think the two differ and what makes Jennifer such a unique character to write?

One of the things we see in DIE!Namite Lives is that, if anything, Jennifer's intensity level and commitment to spectacular, baroque kills rivals Frank Castle's. Also, back in her own series, Jennifer is, in fact, dead. Or that's what the world thinks. But that might make her even harder to stop.

Vincenzo Federici is coming off some dope contributions to both Vampirella and Red Sonja. What's it been like working with him now on this series and seeing him bringing your script to the page?

Vincenzo also did some work on DIE!Namite!, so it's great to be able to work with him again. I am definitely hoping he has a strong enough stomach for some of the stuff I am asking him to draw! Jennifer Blood is a bogeywoman that gangsters use to scare their kids so they'll behave, and she absolutely lives up to her terrifying reputation.

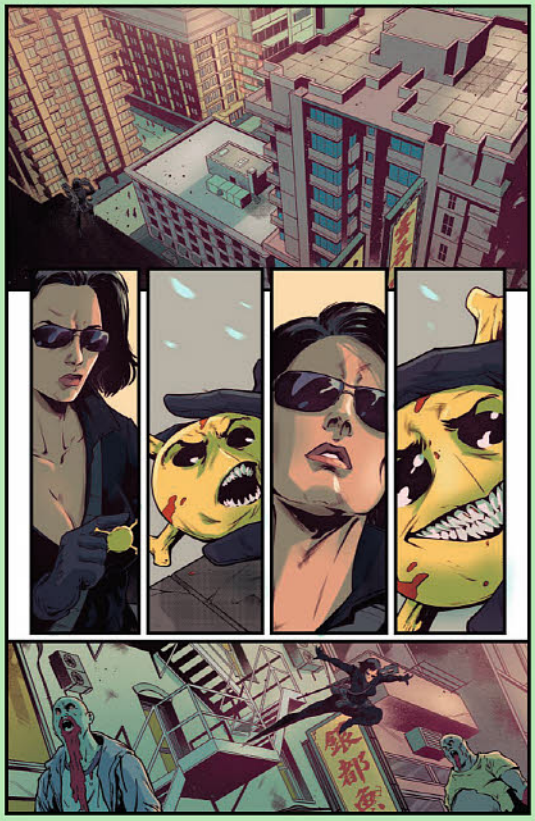

Since we're dealing with the mob, how about we end on a fun one. What are you favorite mafia or crime films? And did any in particular inspire your ideas for this series?

I already invoked Goodfellas, so I will mention another early 90s classic that often gets overshadowed by it: King of New York, a great Abel Ferrara crime flick starring Christopher Walken as a recently released drug lord, with all sorts of great supporting roles from Steve Buscemi, Laurence Fishburne, David Caruso, and more.

JAMES BOND HIMEROS #1

FC | 32 pages | Spy/Fiction, Action/Adventure | $3.99 | Teen+ | 10/13

writer: Rodney Barnes
artist: Antonio Fuso
covers: Francesco Francavilla (A), Butch Guice (B), Blank Authentix (C), Francesco Francavilla (D-RI/BW)

Himeros is the Greek God of sexual desire and one of the Erotes, the winged gods of love. When Aphrodite was born from the sea-foams she was greeted by the twin loves Eros and Himeros.

But when sexual desire goes too far, it takes the legendary super-spy James Bond to bring justice to the most vulnerable among us as he investigates the suspicious death of an accused sex trafficker – one whose ties run deep… and deadly.

Writer Rodney Barnes make his Dynamite 007 debut in this special series, featuring art by returning Bond superstar artist Antonio Fuso and two amazing covers: Francesco Francavilla and Jackson "Butch" Guice!

• Created by the British journalist and novelist Ian Fleming in 1952.

• The character appeared in a series of twelve novels and two short story collections written by Fleming and a number of continuation novels and spin-off works after Fleming's death in 1964.

• There have been twenty-seven films in total, produced between 1962 and 2021.

Rodney Barnes is an American screenwriter and producer. Barnes has written and produced The Boondocks, My Wife and Kids, Everybody Hates Chris, Those Who Can't, Marvel's Runaways, American Gods, Wu-Tang: An American Saga, and is currently an executive producer/writer on HBO's Untitled Los Angeles Lakers drama.

SHAKEN, NOT STIRRED

RODNEY BARNES SHOWS HIS CARDS ON HIS TAKE ON THE ICONIC SPY

James Bond has had so many interpretations across novels, films, comics, and more. What draws you to the character as a writer and why do you think he's so adaptable to different stories?

There's an elegance to James Bond that's timeless. He has a unique skill set and approaches the tasks at hand with wit and humor, yet underneath there's a strong ethical sense that drives him. The brilliance of the character is you can move him from era to era and he still feels fresh.

The subtitle for this series is "Himeros," traditionally known as the Greek god of sexual desire, related to Aphrodite and Eros. Like other Bond tales, this one is dealing with some mature and delicate topics. What lead you to bring this subject matter to your story?

The world we live in and the nature of international crime. Some crimes leave a trail of pain and hurt beyond matters that deal with money. Sex trafficking is one of those types of crimes. I wanted it to be a personal mission for Bond.

As part of this series, you're introducing a new "Bond girl" with some twists on the traditional formula. What can you tell us about Gilda Massendoff?

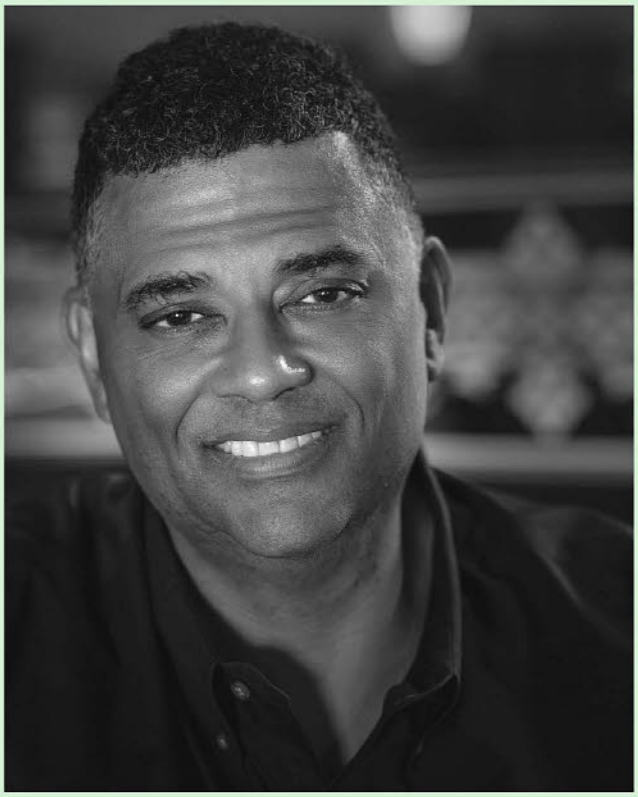

There are layers to her. She's seeking redemption for her decisions made earlier in life. Often times Bond girls are there to be just that, attractive femme fatales. Gilda is more than that, in good and bad ways.

Along the adventure, should fans expect to see any cool cars, gadgets, or wild set pieces that various Bond epics are known for, or are you taking things in a more cut-throat, less flashy route like many of the original novels?

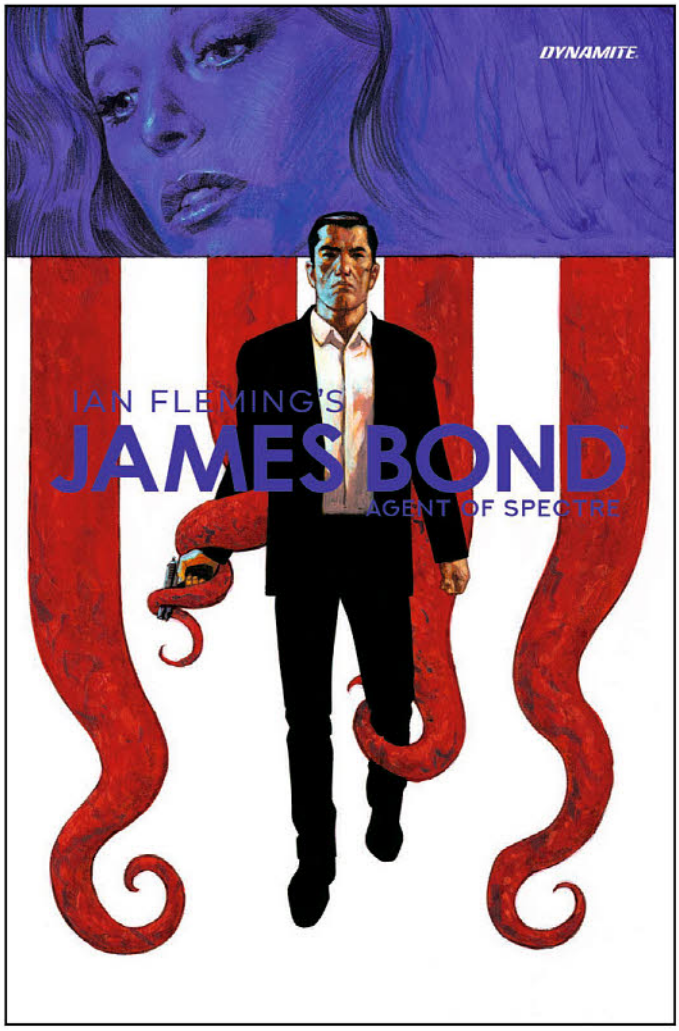

What's 007 without that stuff? Haha, yes, there's lots and lots of action in a myriad of cool locations. There's a sense of balance between the flashy and less flashy because I'm a fan of both.

Artist Antonio Fuso is no stranger to the genre, with previous James Bond work, as well as contributions to Repairman Jack, GI Joe, and Punisher. How has it been collaborating with him and the rest of the creative team to bring this story to readers?

Incredible! I've loved Antonio's work for quite some time, so when I see the pages come in, I'm blown away! It's like "Wow, I'm really telling a James Bond story!" It's a true honor to be collaborating with him.

ARMY OF DARKNESS: 1979 #2

writer: Rodney Barnes
artist: Tom Garcia
covers: Francesco Mattina (A), Arthur Suydam (B), Jungguen Yoon (C), Stuart Sayger (D), Arthur Suydam (E-RI/BW), Stuart Sayger (F-RI/BW), Jungeun Yoon (G-RI/BW), Francesco Mattina (H-RI/BW), Arthur Suydam (I-RI/Tint)

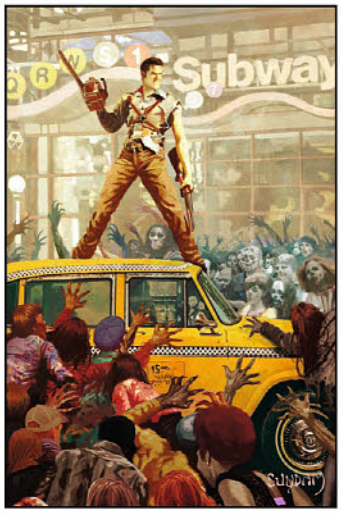

The superstar creator of the hit Image Comics series Killadelphia brings his supernatural horror chops to one of the genre's most (in)famous characters. Ashley Joanna Williams finds himself this time in late 70s New York City. In a less cleaned up era, that means gangs tussle for every block in the South Bronx. And these particular gangs model themselves after zombies and vampires. Things only get even more out of control when they find the one and only Necronomicon!

Barnes is joined in this horror flashback romp by artist Tom Garcia (Pathfinder, Hellraiser), colorist Dinei Ribero, and letterer Troy Peteri. This crew assembles together to guide Ash through his latest comedy horror adventure. But will he or even the creative team survive the journey..?

With his background as a screenwriter and producer in Hollywood, Barnes has contributed to The Boondocks, My Wife and Kids, Everbody Hates Chris, Marvel's Runaways, American Gods, and is currently an executive producer/writer on HBO's untitled drama following the 1980s "Showtime" Los Angeles Lakers. With his love of film and 1970s culture, Barnes is pulling from cult classics like The Warriors on this Army of Darkness tale. Within comics, Barnes is the creator of the Eisner Award-nominated Killadelphia, and has written Falcon and Lando (Star Wars) for Marvel.

Featuring an awesome array of cover artists, including the Dynamite return of Francesco Mattina, along with Junggeun Yoon, and Stuart Sayger and the Zombie King himself -- Arthur Suydam!

The classic "Warren era" of Vampirella is finally exemplified in this highly-detailed resin, the way it was meant to be. Vampirella stands over 12"" high, from heel to bat, and rooted on a base modeled after her ""bat"" logo. This limited-edition statue will be a major collectible in Vampirella's long history, but it will only available for a short time! The extremely limited "Diamond Eye" edition features the same great detail of the original statue, but with real diamonds added to Vampirella's pupils to make her really sparkle on the shelf! GUNG-HO VOL 2 HC

WRITER: BENJAMIN VON ECKARTSBERG | ARTIST: THOMAS VON KUMMANT

"Combining Archie-style teenage shenanigans and rivalries with a Walking Dead narrative arc is a stroke of genius" — PUBLISHERS WEEKLY

"Gung-Ho is one of my favorite releases of the year. It's a breath of fresh air in the comic book world. ABLAZE has something extraordinary here, and I cannot wait for the next volume to begin." — PASTRAMI NATION

GUNG-HO Vol 2 picks up shortly after the events in "Short Circuit," where at Fort Apache, the situation is more tense than ever, as the threat posed by the rippers adds to an increasingly difficult life for the colony, which is running out of supplies, heavy weapons and ammunition.

In the midst of it all, Archer accuses Bagster of raping Celine, and demands a public trial from Kingsten. But the trial does not go as planned. Instead of Bagster, it's Archer who is accused, betrayed and condemned by false evidence. He is exiled from Fort Apache, and tattooed with a cross on his forehead, a mark that makes him an outlaw, unable to seek refuge in any colony whatsoever.

But Zack doesn't believe in his brother's guilt, so an expedition is launched into the danger zone. Unbeknownst to the rest of the community, the teens go to look for Archer, if he is still alive. The expedition will not be without risks though, nor without unpleasant surprises...

GUNG-HO Volume 2 collects the next two storylines of the critically acclaimed series, "Sexy Beast" and "Anger," into one terrific, tension-filled volume!

MARVEL VALUE STAMPS: A VISUAL HISTORY HC

In 1974, Marvel Comics publisher Stan Lee devised an ingenious promotional campaign — Marvel Value Stamps, which appeared on the letters pages of their monthly comics. Readers could cut out all 100 of these super hero and super villain stamps and place them in a special mail-order booklet. Once complete, these stamp books could then be redeemed for special discounts and exclusive merchandise. The program was so successful, a second set was released in 1975. And now, for the first time, these original stamp books, stamps, and all of the surrounding ephemera and source material are collected into one must-have volume for collectors and fans, along with text from Marvel Comics historian Roy Thomas. THE ODYSSEY OF STAR WARS: AN EPIC POEM HC

Journey to a galaxy far, far away like never before—through lyrical verse and meter. Like the tales of Odysseus and Beowulf, the adventures of Luke Skywalker, Han Solo, Princess Leia, Jyn Erso, Obi-Wan Kenobi, Darth Vader, and the Emperor are fraught with legendary battles, iconic heroes, fearsome warriors, sleek ships, and dangerous monsters. Beginning with Rogue One's rebel heist on Scarif to secure the plans to the Death Star and continuing through the climax of Return of the Jedi, author Jack Mitchell uses the ancient literary form of epic poetry to put a new spin on the Star Wars saga. Punctuated with stunning illustrations inspired by the terracotta art of Greek antiquity, The Odyssey of Star Wars: An Epic Poem presents the greatest myth of the 20th century as it might have been told nearly 3,000 years ago. Which is why the authorities' solution has been to ignore him, and let New Yorkers adapt to a world where death can strike at any moment. When Maniac Harry starts killing his way through the subway system, trauma-haunted political aide Gina Greene and disgraced NYPD detective Zelda Pettibone become determined to go rogue and destroy him. But how can they fight a monster when they can't fight City Hall?

Based on Philip K. Dick's short story "Breakfast at Twilight," NUCLEAR FAMILY is written by Stephanie Phillips (Butcher of Paris, Heavy Metal, ARTEMIS AND THE ASSASSIN, RED ATLANTIS) and illustrated by Tony Shasteen (Star Trek). WHAT A FRIGHT OF A NIGHT!

Interview with Fright Night creator Tom Holland

Fright Night is considered by many to be the quintessential '80s horror movie, encapsulating a decade of frights into it's 108-minute running time. Fright Night set the standard for horror comedies to follow (and straight horror films too) with its lead vampire Jerry Dandridge, his minion Evil Ed, and our young hero Charlie Brewster. And let's not forget the great Roddy McDowell as Peter Vincent, Vampire Hunter!

This October, Fright Night returns to comics after a 28-year absence, this time at American Mythology, with their new series, Tom Holland's Fright Night! The series — written by James Kuhoric, with art by Cyrus Mesarcia and original Fright Night artist Neil Vokes — is based on Holland's original Fright Night novel and picks up where the 1985 movie left off... and Tom Holland is helping to guide this latest chapter in the series!

PREVIEWS: Fright Night is considered the quintessential modern vampire movie. It blends the elements of horror, humor, and humanity in such a perfect harmony. When you were writing the novel/script for the movie, did you have any specific influences that shaped the story?

TOM HOLLAND: My memory of growing up with horror movie hosts like Zacherle, Elvira, Ghoulardi, and others, many of them on local TV channels. They had horror movies on Friday night at 11 PM, the only place you could find horror. And the movies were almost universally terrible. That's where Peter Vincent, the Great Vampire Killer, comes from. I was a fan. Still am.

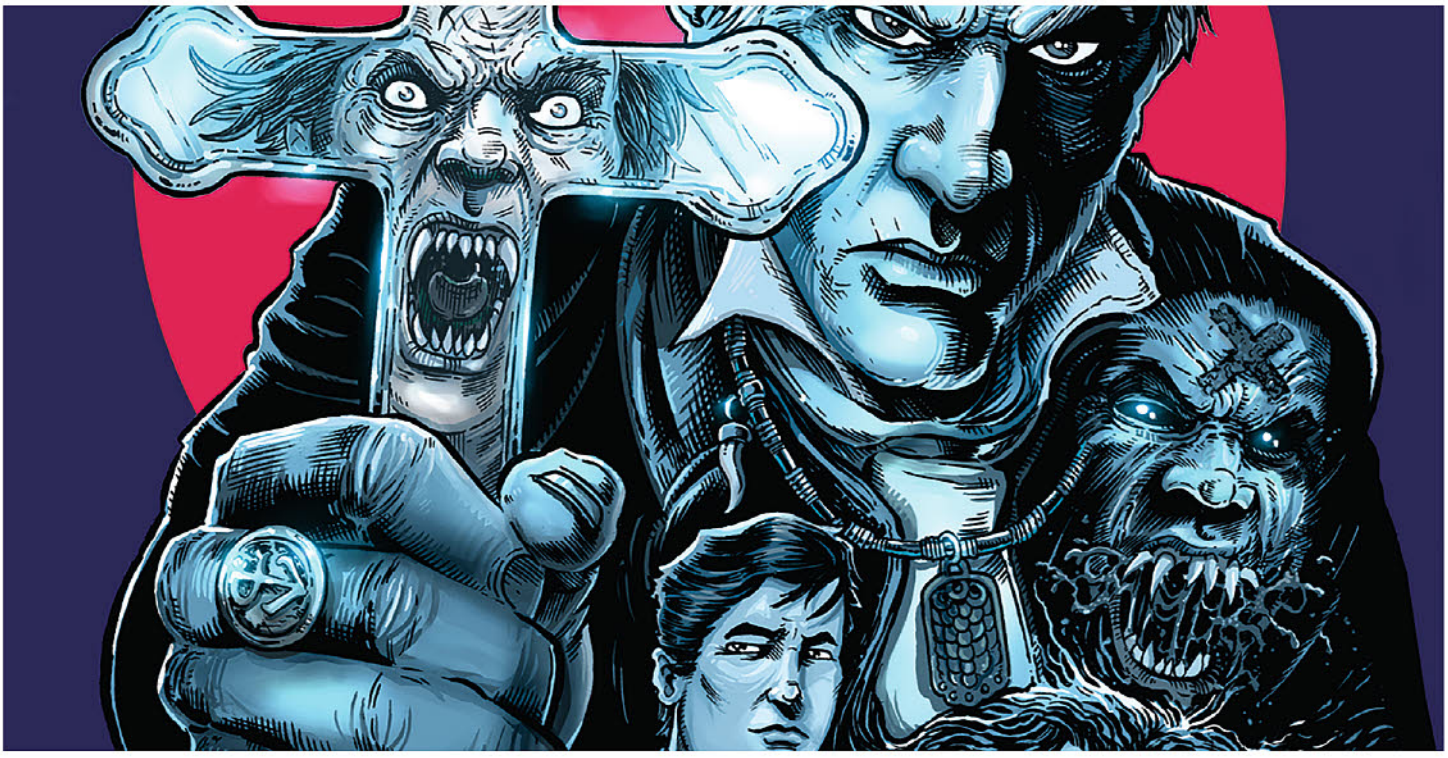

PREVIEWS: Roddy McDowell was the perfect Peter Vincent. He captured the character to perfection in the movie. When he finds his faith in the final encounter it's such a pivotal moment in his development. Was the character written for Roddy or did he bring the concept to life with his performance?

TOM HOLLAND: Actually, the character was written with Vincent Price in mind, but due to his health, he was unable to commit to the film. Roddy had always been a favorite of mine and he'd done a wonderful job as the teacher who has a breakdown and takes his students hostage in a film I wrote called Class of '84, directed by Mark Lester. I gave the Fright Night script to Roddy, and he brought his own magic to the character. In fact, it was Roddy's idea to approach the character of Peter Vincent like the Cowardly Lion in Wizard of Oz.

PREVIEWS: James Kuhoric, the writer of the new Fright Night comic, has said that the original Fright Night comic books were a huge influence on him when he was a young collector. Do you enjoy comics, and do you think these new ones can have that same influence on new generations of artists and writers?

TOM HOLLAND: I enjoyed a lot of the old EC Comics titles, Tales from the Crypt, Vault of Horror, Weird Science, and the rest. I always loved a good tale of the fantastic or the frightening. The comics led to me seek out the short stories and novels in the same vein.

My generation was hugely influenced by the EC comics. It was the only way you could read horror. I don't even remember horror novels then, the mid to late '50s. It was the golden age of science fiction, but not horror. Ask Stephen King. So many of his short stories, especially the early ones, echo the EC comics we grew up with as kids.

So many of them had twisty shocking endings. EC comics were banned in the mid-fifties. They were a guilty pleasure that we kids passed around among ourselves in high school. Couldn't let the teachers or our parents know, which just made them more delightful.

Hard to imagine, but this was before there was enough of us horror aficionados to even be called fans.

PREVIEWS: Are there more Fright Night stories coming? We've heard rumors of a new Fright Night novel in the works as well as several proposed new Fright Night comic book series and events. Is there anything you can share about the creative forthcoming?

TOM HOLLAND: I recently collaborated with writer Jack Ulrich to create Fright Night: Aftermath which is a new novel that takes place just after the events of the original film. And we have a third novel already in process as a follow-up to that one. We're looking at a series of books that follow our original heroes and introduce new allies and enemies along the way. And more Fright Night comics, thanks to James and his team.

PREVIEWS: We're sure the legions of your fans are very excited to go to comic book shops to see the new comic book series. What is your favorite part of the new Fright Night comic book, and will you be working directly with the creators to deliver your vision for the books?

TOM HOLLAND: I've really loved the initial art that we've seen coming from the artists. I enjoy the idea of seeing Fright Night continuing to evolve from the ideas in the first movie. The limitations are removed when you take it from the screen to the page. I've been working with James (Kuhoric), but I've also tried to give him and the artists the freedom to create things that are new and exciting. To let him go places in the comic that Fright Night has never been. Same with the new Fright Night novel series. Fun and exciting!

The bodies of citizens and the infrastructure surrounding them is constantly updating. The signatures of DeForge's work-a vibrant color palette, surreal designs, and self-aware sense of humor — enliven an often-bleak technocratic future. Familiar Face is a masterful and deeply funny exploration of how we define our sense of self, and how we cope when so much of life is out of our control. (STL144780)

You wake up in the rubble and see a ragged, desperate one-armed man greeting you. He takes you underground to a safe space, feeds you, offers you a place to sleep, and then announces that he'll take the first watch. It's not long before the peril of the jagged landscape has located you and your newfound protector and is scratching at the door. What transpires is a moment-to-moment struggle for survival — The Road meets Dawn of the Dead. Daybreak is seen through the eyes of a silent observer as he follows his protector and runs from the shadows of the imminent zombie threat. Brian Ralph slowly builds the tension of the zombies on the periphery, letting the threat, rather than the actual carnage, be the driving force. (STK522710)

Set in modern-day Tel Aviv, a young man, Koby Franco, receives an urgent phone call from a female soldier. Learning that his estranged father may have been a victim of a suicide bombing in Hadera, Koby reluctantly joins the soldier in searching for clues. His death would certainly explain his empty apartment and disconnected phone line. As Koby tries to unravel the mystery of his father's death, he finds himself piecing together not only the last few months of his father's life but his entire identity. With thin, precise lines and luscious watercolors, Rutu Modan creates a portrait of modern Israel, a place where sudden death mingles with the slow dissolution of family ties. (STK381712)

NIGHT FISHER
15TH ANNIVERSARY EDITION

By R. Kikuo Johnson

$19.99 / HC / 144 pgs / BW / 6.75" × 9.75"

In 2006, critics heralded R. Kikuo Johnson's Night Fisher as one of the most exciting debuts in the medium's history. On its 15th anniversary, Fantagraphics is proud to publish this new edition of Night Fisher in hardcover for the first time. Johnson's depiction of two teens' friendship being put to the test is an unsentimental portrait of the awkward period between adolescence and young adulthood and that rarest of things — a mature depiction of immature lives.

UNIMPRESSED

By Miranda Tacchia

$29.99 / HC / 400 pgs / FC / 7" × 5"

Unimpressed combines more than two hundred hilarious oneliners with even funnier drawings tackling modern friendship, romance, urban living, and self-image. Miranda Tacchia uses her biting sense of humor and background in animation to create brilliant character portraits of women with only markers, Post-it notes, and tape, echoing Phoebe Waller-Bridge's Fleabag or Abbi Jacobsen and Ilana Glazer's Broad City. Funny, smart, observant, sexy, gross, and relatable — Unimpressed is a wonderful debut and a great gift idea.

A Creator You Should Know: MARSHALL ROGERS

Marshall Rogers visually defined Batman for a generation of fans. Teamed with writer Steve Englehart and inker Terry Austin, Rogers delivered the lead stories in a highly praised run on Detective Comics in the 1970s which introduced mob boss Rupert Thorne, Bruce Wayne's love interest Silver St. Cloud, and the Joker Fish. He simultaneously drew a memorable run of Mister Miracle. Rogers also worked with Englehart on Coyote in serialized form in the pages of Eclipse Magazine, Madame Xanadu, Scorpio Rose, Silver Surfer and later, again with Austin inking, on the mini-series Batman: Dark Detective. Rogers also illustrated a run on Doctor Strange and teamed with writer Don McGregor on the original Detectives, Inc. graphic novel. His work also appeared in G.I. Joe, Howard The Duck, Green Lantern: Evil's Might, Batman: Legends of the Dark Knight, and his own creation, Cap'n Quick and a Foozle. He passed away unexpectedly at the age of 57.

HAKIM'S ODYSSEY BOOK 1: FROM SYRIA TO TURKEY GN

(W) Fabien Toulme, Hannah Chute

"What does it mean to be a "refugee"? It is easy for those who live in relative freedom to ignore or even to villainize people who have been forced to flee their homes. After all, it can be hard to identify with others' experiences when you haven't been in their shoes. In Hakim's Odyssey, we see firsthand how war can make anyone a refugee. Hakim, a successful young Syrian who had his whole life ahead of him, tells his story: how war forced him to leave everything behind, including his family, his friends, his home, and his business. After the Syrian uprising in 2011, Hakim was arrested and tortured, his town was bombed, his business was seized by the army, and members of his family were arrested or disappeared. This first leg of his odyssey follows Hakim as he travels from Syria to Lebanon, Lebanon to Jordan, and Jordan to Turkey, where he struggles to earn a living and dreams of one day returning to his home. SAPIENS VOLUME 2: THE PILLARS OF CIVILZATION GN

(W) Yuval Noah Harari
(A) David Vandermeulen, Daniel Casanave
What if humanity's major woes—war, plague, famine and inequality—originated 12,000 years ago, when Homo sapiens converted from nomads to settlers, in pursuit of the fantasy of productivity and efficiency? What if by seeking to control plants and animals, humans ended up being controlled by kings, priests, and Kafkaesque bureaucracy? Volume 2 of Sapiens: A Graphic History–The Pillars of Civilization explores a crucial chapter in human development: the Agricultural Revolution. This is the story of how wheat took over the world; how an unlikely marriage between a god and a bureaucrat created the first empires; and how war, plague, famine, and inequality became an intractable feature of the human condition. When Kabae gives Retsuko a book from a Regency-era romance series, our hero becomes obsessed. After reading the entire series over a sleepless weekend, Retsuko finds that her mother also loves the series, and the two spend an entire lunch talking about it. They are thrilled to realize that a pop-up shop themed around the book has opened nearby and is hosting a competition for a pre-release DVD of the TV show pilot! Also featuring two all-new stories from Brenda Hickey, Josh Tierney, and Shadia Amin.

FORGIVENESS: THE STORY OF EVA KOR, SURVIVOR OF AUSCHWITZ SC

(W/A) Joseph E Lee

In March of 1944, at age 10, little Eva was arrested with her entire family, including her twin sister, Miriam, for the "crime" of being Jewish. Nazis loaded Eva and her family into a cattle car with other men, women, and children headed to the Auschwitz-Birkenau concentration camp. Within moments of their arrival, the twins lost their entire family to the gas chambers without a chance to say goodbye. Because twins were considered valuable for research, the girls were spared immediate death by Josef Mengele, the Nazi doctor and war criminal, in favor of experimentation and torture. This stunning, heartbreaking illustrated biography tells the story of a tenacious girl's fight to survive a horrific childhood ravaged by tragedy; her growing anger as an adult who settled in Terre Haute, Indiana; and her eventual discovery that forgiveness might just save her life. J.M. Brandt

Theo Prasidis

Please tell us a bit about yourselves!

J.M. Brandt: I am a lifelong horror and comics fan. I also write short horror fiction and poetry. In my civilian life I am a freelance writer and editor. I am based in Los Angeles, where I was born and raised.

Theo Prasidis: I'm a writer based in Drama, Greece. I have two horror books coming out this year, Swamp Dogs: House of Crows by Black Caravan/Scout Comics (See Page 371), and an as-yet unannounced series by TKO Studios. I like writing stories about magic, monsters, and women with swords.

What are your favorite projects you've contributed to over the past decade?

J.M. Brandt: Swamp Dogs is my first work in comics. And I couldn't be happier about it. My only currently published fiction is a story called "The Welcoming Committee" which can be found in Midnight Tales! Volume 3 from Midnight Crypt. It is a short piece about a man coming to grips with terminal cancer... and ghosts.

Theo Prasidis: Image Comics' The Doomster's Monolithic Pocket Alphabet (SEP170626), the little doom metal picture book I did with Maarten Donders, is the project that got me involved in comics, so it'll always hold a special place in my gloomy heart!

What are you currently working on?

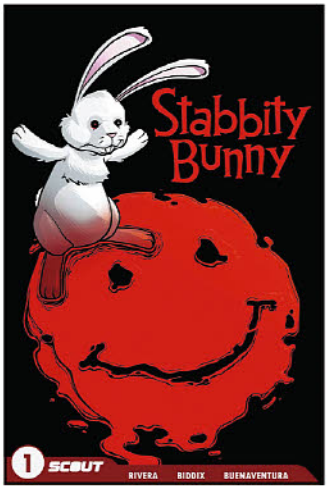

J.M. Brandt: I am currently putting all my energy into Swamp Dogs. After the 5 issues of House of Crows, there are still big plans for the story and characters. It will be going in ways nobody could ever guess. It's going to be really exciting! And I'm also working on doing press with podcasts, magazines, and websites about the book to get our names out there.

Theo Prasidis: I'm currently working on a wordless, pulpy sci-fi mini, a chivalric 17th century animated film, and a 4-month-old hell-raiser, who thinks waking you up in the dead of night, for no good reason at all, is fun!

What fun titles are you reading?

J.M. Brandt: I am very slowly going through the Reign of X books from Marvel; my favorites of those being Benjamin Percy's X-Force. I am catching up on Hillbilly (Vol. 1 / JAN171227) by Eric Powell, which I absolutely adore. And I just purchased Gou Tanabe's adaptations of H.P. Lovecraft's The Hound and Other Stories (MAR170121)... which I'm super excited to dig into!

Theo Prasidis: I recently got into Head Lopper (Vol. 1: The Island or A Plague of Beasts / JUL160804), and I'm totally hooked. I'm re-reading some of those Dark Horse The Witcher books... those are good fun. Everything Dani draws is pretty killer and right up my alley. Also, trying to keep up with everything Ram V puts out. The guy's literally unstoppable!

DIEGO RIVERA GN
(W) Francisco De La Mora
(A) Jose Luis Pescador
Diego Rivera was a revolutionary painter in more ways than one. Attending art school at 11, by his twenties he was counted among the most influential figures of the Parisian art scene of the early 20th century. Rivera's murals, both in his native Mexico and the United States, reflect the contradictory turbulence of his character and times. He met Lenin in Paris, Stalin in Moscow, and offered refuge to Trotsky during his Mexican exile. Meanwhile, his work was commissioned by giants of capitalism: Henry Ford and John D. Rockefeller. Rivera's indefatigable industry was matched by his zest for life, accumulating hundreds of lovers and four wives—including Frida Kahlo, whose formidable partnership is also one of the great love stories of art history. This tells the story of the extraordinary life and times of an artist for whom myth and reality fused. (STL200308) (C: 0-1-0)

HORROR SUPERNATURAL

WRITTEN BY: SARA RICHARD
ART BY: SARA RICHARD

$24.99	PARTIAL COLOR	HARDCOVER
92 PAGES	ALL AGES	5" X 9"

The Dead Hand Book is a collection of tales by those interred within the overcast Gravesend Cemetery. Hazy histories told in the style of pitted gravestones with the help of the ones buried below invite you back to days gone by where we faced mortality with both eyes wide open.

It wasn't so long ago we all knew the common epitaph carved into hard graveyard slate:
"Remember me as you pass by. As you are, so was I. As I am so you will be. Prepare for death and follow me."
Memento Mori.

CREATOR FOCUS: SARA RICHARD

Lady Sara Richard is an Eisner and Ringo Award nominated artist and writer from New Hampshire. Her art and stories are steeped in an appreciation of sweetly macabre history and the natural and supernatural world. As she is a part time gravesite preserver and funerary antique conserver, she creates art that perpetuates and celebrates the styles of old gravestones, Victorian mourning rituals and other mortality ceremonies throughout the world. She is dedicated to natural conservation as her Ladyship title comes from helping to preserve the forests of Glencoe and Aberdeenshire in Scotland. Sara also honors her ancestors in her art who include Queen Eleanor of Aquitaine and Margaret Scott, a victim of The Salem Witch Trials. Sara lives for her art to spread the sentiment of Memento Mori and appreciating those who have come before.

MIKE GRELL: LIFE IS DRAWING WITHOUT AN ERASER SC

(W) Dewey Cassell (A) Mike Grell

From a seminal turn on Superboy and the Legion of Super-Heroes and creating the lost world of the Warlord, to his work on Green Arrow, Mike Grell made an indelible mark at DC Comics in the 1970s and '80s. But his greatest contribution to the comics industry was in pioneering creator-owned properties like Jon Sable, Starslayer, and Shaman's Tears. This career-spanning tribute to the master storyteller is told in Grell's own words, full of candor, optimism, and humor. Full of illustrations from every facet of his long career, with a Foreword by Chad Hardin, it is a fitting tribute to the artist, writer, and storyteller. (STL088520)

OLD GODS & NEW: A COMPANION TO JACK KIRBY'S FOURTH WORLD TP

For its 80th issue, the Jack Kirby Collector magazine presents a double-sized 50th anniversary examination of Kirby's magnum opus! Spanning the pages of four different comics starting in 1970 (New Gods, Forever People, Mister Miracle, and Jimmy Olsen), the sprawling "Epic for our times" was cut short mid-stream, leaving fans wondering how Jack would've resolved the confrontation between evil Darkseid of Apokolips and his son Orion of New Genesis. This companion to that "Fourth World" series looks back at Jack Kirby's own words, as well as those of assistants Mark Evanier and Steve Sherman, inker Mike Royer, and publisher Carmine Infantino, to determine how it came about, where it was going, and how Kirby would've ended it before it was prematurely cancelled by DC Comics! It also examines Kirby's use of gods in Thor and other strips prior to the Fourth World, how they influenced his DC epic, and affected later series like The Eternals and Captain Victory. NEW REALITIES: THE COMICS OF DASH SHAW GN

Dash Shaw is one of the most restless cartoonists of recent decades, constantly evolving in how he approaches the comics page. In the years since his breakthrough graphic novel Bottomless Belly Button, he has continued to create acclaimed, idiosyncratic comics, varying his uses of line and color as well as shifting from domestic realism to sci-fi farce to historical fiction. But some concerns in Shaw's work remain constant. In New Realities, critic Greg Hunter (The Comics Journal) follows the through-line across this adventurous body of work. (STL200097) (C: 0-1-0)

(W/A/CA) Matt Madden

A character is trapped in a room with nothing but a futon and a bookcase full of comics. As they peruse covers, read stories and fragments of stories, they begin to suspect that the comics contain hidden messages and... a threat. Fiction and reality blur; sanity and madness become increasingly intertwined as the reader becomes convinced the key to their predicament is to be found between the panels of the strange books. With a dizzying array of inventive visual and narrative styles, Ex Libris continues the line of exploration and play that Madden initiated with 99 Ways to Tell a Story: Exercises in Style. BLACK PANTHER: INTERROGATING A CULTURAL PHENOMENON SC

(W) Terence McSweeney

Black Panther is one of the most financially successful and culturally impactful films to emerge from the American film industry in recent years. When it was released in 2018 it broke numerous records and resonated with audiences all around the world in ways that transcended the dimensions of the superhero film. In Black Panther: Interrogating a Cultural Phenomenon author Terence McSweeney explores the film from a diverse range of perspectives, seeing it not only as a comic book adaptation and a superhero film, but also a dynamic contribution to the discourse of both African and African American studies. THE MEN WHO CREATED GUNDAM GN

(W/A) Hideki Owada

In 1978 animation director Yoshiyuki Tomino set forth to change the Japanese animation industry. For decades prior, Japanese science fiction had churned out numerous tales of semi-autonomous robots that would often come to the aide of humanity, but as someone who worked on a number of those works, Tomino came to the realization that he wanted to see a more realistic robot narrative. His vision was one where the robot, while just slightly more human in appearance, was utilized more as a tool manipulated by man. With renowned artist Yoshikazu Yasuhiko by his side, and occasionally as his artistic rival, Tomino would change the way the whole world came to see Japanese animation and the broader toy and comics industries built around it. This evolution would be a war in its own right! Battles were fought in the offices of the animation studio! Conflicts were equally as heated in the recording booth! (STL190293) (C: 0-1-1)
